

The Marion Ross Murder?

AN INTERESTING IDEA FROM AUSTRALIA

Thank you for the update. The murder of Marion ROSS appears to have been given cold case status. Lets open up the possibilities and suggest that the authorities look for DNA in the fingerprints from the scene and the money tin and any other item they have which yielded fingerprint evidence. DNA trace evidence is well within the capability of British expertise and is hopefully outside the control of SCRO. Just a thought. Regards N

Is this an avenue worth pursuing by the Police?